Letter From The Editor

To: CVM Reader

From: Comics Values Monthly

Hiya gang, First of all I'd like to thank all of you who wrote in to give us your compliments. It is really encouraging for a fledgling operation to receive positive responses to their undertaking. However, I find myself apologizing for the tardiness of issue 101. We experienced a sort of catch 22 and could not ship the book on time.

Comic book companies have a tendency to bring back old characters and try to update them. Some current examples are Black Lightning and Shazam. I know that you guys probably have your own favorite characters that you would like to see revived. My personal choice is Scuzz from Marvel 's New Universe title DP 7. Now, I want you to use your imagination and write about a character that you would like to see again and how you would bring the character back. Send letters to:

CVMail
725 Morison Street
Charles Town WV 25414

We realize that we do this magazine for you, so we want your input. If you have any suggestions we sure would like to here them. As for future endeavors, in issue 103 there will be a new feature called Simple and Eggbert. These guys are comic critics extrodinaire and will be reviewing some of their favorite comics in their own unique way.

In this issue, we take a look at the first issue of Black Lightning and Dan Walimma, Knowledgable action figure man, gives us an article entitled "Invasion of the Super Hero Toys!". So, sit back and enjoy or stand up and get out your comic collection.

Future Picks

There are not many comics which stay around long enough to get to the exalted 100th issue, but Flash races to the century mark in February. A new Flash will make his appearance exhibiting extraordinary powers not owned by the previous speedsters. DC also introduces the very popular Impulse (from the Flash family) in his own series. The DC line gets its own dose of the next generation with a 3-issue mini-series called Psyba-Rats. Psyba-Rats will be written by Chuck Dixon, penciled by Micheal Duthiewicz and A.J. Kent and inked by Bob McLeod. The Vertigo line receives yet another title to add to its stable. Garth Ennis, writer of Hellblazer, gives us Preacher #1.

As the Age of Apocalypse continues to rage through the X-titles, we point out that a X-Men Alpha Gold Edition does exist and if you can get your hands on one do so. The last issue of the Rogue mini-series comes out. Even though its not connected to the After Xavier storyline, Fans will find that this book is worth it. Starting with Namor #6, a story begins that will have repercussions throughout the Marvel Universe. Atlantis is Rising and Namor nowhere to be seen. Prepare yourself for the Fury of S.H.I.E.L.D. #1. Nick Fury explodes into the 90's with his own series. Written by the great Howard Chaykin and drawn by Supreme artist Cortney Lehmkuhl. Captain America in an exoskeleton? It's coming in issue 438. One of the greatest confrontations in Marvel history is about to take place in Punisher #101. The new Punisher has to take on Bullseye from the pages of Daredevil. This is a must have book and a great starting point in the Punisher titles. I had mentioned that not many comics hang on till the century mark. One of the most beloved characters in Marveldom reaches a unbelievable 400th issue. Someone is going to die and that someone is named Parker.

Image launches their New Order, a line which will include new titles and reorganization of the old titles. Bloodwulf makes his return from the pages of Darker Image, in a 4- issue mini-series. Marat Mychaels and Al Vey introduce a very cool looking character named Knightmare. Fan favorite Prophet gets his own ongoing series with Chuck Dixon, Stephan Platt and Marlo Alquiza doing the production chores. In one of the best crossovers of next year Vampirella from Harris and Shadowhawk star in Creatures of the Night #2.

Big things are happening over at Dark Horse (as always), Nexus comes seeking the Man Out of the Vortex to execute him for mass murder. This five issue mini-series is written by Mike Baron, penciled by Joe Comstock and inked by Brian Kane. The second Dark Empire series continues with issue #3, a superbly crafted story by Tom Veitch and Cam Kennedy.

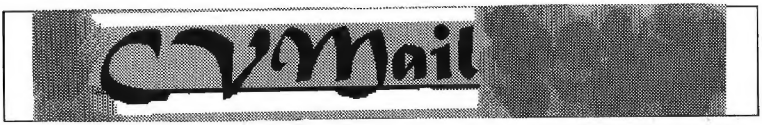
In the Malibu corner of the universe, Tim Starlins Breed II is a must buy, especially for Breed fans. Origin pieces are revealed in The Man Called A-X #0. Mortal Kombat takes off in another series aptly named Battlewave.

In other news, Chaos Comics has given Lady Death another 4-issue mini-series. The mother of all bad girls has a chromium cover by Steven Hughes. Entity Comics produces comics which are always good reads and February is no exception. Warzone #1, Aster #4 and Zen,Color #7 are worth the look.

The high tech company that has taken the industry by storm continues its line of comics with some interesting developments. In Leonard Nimoy's Primortals contact is made, Mr. Hero gets a facelift, and secrets are revealed in the lost universe.

Frank Franzetta's Deathdealer, one of my personal favorite characters lives in a new series from Verotik. Written by Glenn Danzig and Drawn by Simon Bisley this could be the big one for 1995, Don't miss it.

Voyager unveils its own line of creator-owned comics with the banner of Windjammer. The two initial stories are Bar Sinister, Mike Grell's creation from the pages of Shaman's Tears , and Starslayer, also by Mike Grell. Valiant which is also under the Voyager banner has been struggling for a while and hope to have a rebirth soon. They start with the origin of Ninjak in 0 and 00 issues. This character is extremely well written and worth checking out.



This is it, The first edition of the new CVMail. I want to thank all of the readers who sent in mail. It has been a hard road to get to this point, but each issue just gets better and better. Here's a couple of congratulation letters .

To: Mr. Carey Hall & Sunrise Publications

I've purchased Issue #100 of the "New" C.V.M.. Read the "Letters From Your Editor" and decided to take you up on the editor-reader relationship part. First of all: Congrats on the child, I'm sure all three of you are excited.

But not to get to personal, let me compare, contrast and express my opinions on the "Old" and "New" CVM.

There's only one reason why I buy Comics Values Monthly. Prices!!!. The future picks and articles are good, don't get me wrong. But I would like to know what Cloak & Dagger #1 is worth even if it isn't new or popular book. (Just Citing example.

And that's why I'm writing to you. Attic was doing a fine job with the books and cards, but it was getting to the point where they would take one thing out one month, and take something out the next month. For the last couple of issues I would play this little game to find out what they took out the next month. Needless to say, I was a little unhappy and thought I would have to resort to the hardcover edition or another book all together.

I use CVM for the comic books as well as the cards and for those few issues where the card prices were gone, I said fine and tried to get a hold of the Triton book. It was like pulling teeth (at least in my area). That's what I like about the "new" CVM. It has all the old book and card prices that disappeared from the old book as well as the toy prices.

In closing, I would like to say that I'm extremely pleased with the new layout and hope you continue to stay along the same guidelines. You've reestablished my value in CVM. And as a future note : I would gladly pay the $3.50 price for everything that's in it now.

You and Sunrise did a great job. Keep up the good work.

Respectfully Yours, Jason Sawyer.

Dear Carey Hall;

I am writing to you and your "new" company to first offer my deepest gratitude to the hero of the century, Sunrise Publications for saving what for me is the only comic book price guide.

I first picked CVM at about issue 69 and have been buying it ever since for not only the accurate pricing but also the insightful articles and columns that appear, I have enjoyed reading about what is a popular title in other parts of the country and parts of the world.

I see by picking up issue 100 that you are not only going to continue the tradition that hooked me , but are also making it better by including action figures and what looks like a better comic card trading price list of which I look forward to every month.

To you and all the people both old and new, I wish you all the very best and will continue to look forward every month to reading your magazine with even more zeal than before.

Very Truly Yours,
Robert A. Toledo

Dear Jason and Robert,

Thanks guys for the congrats and for staying with us during our hiatus. I'm sure you guys will like the future issues of this magazine. In the upcoming issues we will totally revamp the listings to include even more prices and information.

"INVASION OF THE SUPER HERO TOYS!"

By Dan Walimaa

"Look! Over there in the toy aisle!"
"It's a bird!"
"It's a plane!"
"It's some weirdo in fancy underwear!"

Yes dear readers, super hero action figures are making a comeback and they are bigger and better than ever before! Why, just take a little gander for yourselves down any given toy aisle and you'll see that the super heroes are. the hottest things going. So far the 90's have seen more comic book characters than Magneto's accumulated in loose pocket change. So what the heck is going on here anyway, is this some kind of crazy new fad like pet rocks or bell bottomed pants?! Well not exactly, actually to be truthful, comic book heroes and their villains have always been a major part of action figure history. Oh sure there have been some lean years in the past such as the late seventies to early eighties when the Star Wars toys ruled the aisles, or the mid to late eighties where everything from the Ghostbuster, G.I. Joe and the Transformers took the spotlight. Through it all though the comic book super heroes were almost always there.

1966 brought the first wave of action figure super hero toys in the form of Ideal's Captain Action. Captain Action was the Ideal company's answer to Hasbro's successful G.I. Joe line, he looked like a generic Super Hero himself but the cool gimmick with this toy was the costumes that you could buy separately to help transform him into real comic book heroes like Batman, Captain America, Aquaman, Spider-Man, Superman and more. The only thing missing for Captain. Action was a phone booth to do all that suit changing in. In 1972 the Mego Corporation released the first of its now famous Official World's Greatest Super Heroes line which in its long ten year run released such great characters as Superman, Batman, Captain America, Spider-Man, Iron Man, Thor and even female characters like Supergirl, Catwoman, The Invisible Girl and more. These figures were smaller in size than Captain Action but they were fully poseable and had nice custom made outfits that resembled the comic book character's looks nicely.

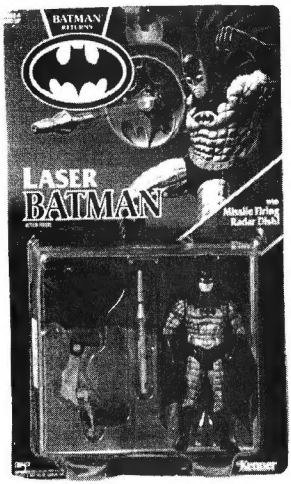
1984 saw the super hero action figures go down to yet even a smaller size and now they were molded completely in plastic, clothes and all. The DC and Marvel characters were also split into two separate series by two different companies. Mattel covered the Marvel side with their Secret Wars line which had all the tried and true heroes like Spider-Man and Captain America etc. in it but also included a fellow who back then was new to the toy scene but is now a common sight, Wolverine. Kenner took care of the DC half with their Super Powers Collection line which of course included all new versions of Batman and Superman but also introduced newer characters like Darkseid, Red Tornado and the much sought after Cyborg.

1989 saw a whole new company called Toy Biz bring out the DC Comics Super Heroes which you can tell by the name says it all. Included in this line-up were the Batman figures based on the newly released Batman movie starring Michael Keaton. Unfortunately the line didn't last very long and except for Batman related characters this would be the last of the DC character action figures to be seen to date. 1995 promises to change all of that though with the release of a Superman line and other DC characters. In 1990 Toy Biz came out with the Marvel

Super Heroes line which has had more success than their previous endeavor as is still around today. During this same year the Kenner company gained the rights to Batman and released a whole new line called The Dark Knight Collection, Batman was back with a vengeance and he still makes his home at the house of Kenner today. In 1991 Toy Biz added the famous X-Men of Marvel Comics fame to their action figure line-up and it proved to be a smash hit with collectors and kids alike, it still carries on strong to this day and this ever expanding series shows no sign of slowing down anytime soon. 1992 saw the release of the second Batman movie, Batman Returns, and Kenner was there with the action figures which this time included Catwoman, The Penguin and for some odd reason, Robin, who was in neither of the films. This as literally dozens of variations of him in new outfits were released, there was Artic Batman, Deep-Dive Batman, Laser Batman and so on and so forth just to name a few. It was a very successful line that has just recently made it to a second series called Batman Returns series II. This same year Toy Biz released a new line of figures based on Marvel's Fantastic Four and thus was. born the now near epic proportions popular figures based on the new cartoon show, Batman: The Animated Series. The Batman: Mask of the Phantasm Animated movie of the same year also resulted in an additional Batman Animated line.

1994 was a Phenomenal year for action figures as a whole and super heroes were a big part of it all. Besides all new additions to the X-Men/X-Force lines from Toy Biz, the Biz also released a brand new line totally devoted to Spider-Man based on his new Animated series. Kenner brought out their fair share too with m ore additions to their Batman: The Animated Series line and an all new series of figures called Legends of Batman which is proving to be their most successful Batman line to date. The biggest surprise of the year though was the release of action figures based on a character that had never before been seen down the toy aisles, Spawn from Todd McFarlane's Todd Toys. Mr. McFarlane created his own toy company to handle the chore of bringing his famous comic hero to the world and the result is an action figure fan's and Spawn comics fan's dream come true!

1995 is going to be even bigger for Super Hero related toys as the WILDC.A.T.S. of Image Comics/Jim Lee fame are introduced from Playmates Toys. Bandai also enters the Super Hero arena with their new line of Tick action figures. Toy Biz is releasing many new additions to their X-Men, X-Force and Spider-Man series and introduces a new Iron Man and Fantastic Four line. Don't forget Todd Toys which plans to add even more characters to it's Spawn line which now includes other Image comic characters like Chapel and Badrock from Youngblood with more coming soon. Another DC comic hero to be released in action figure form this year will be Judge Dredd which also has a big budget movie coming this summer. It seems that comic book super heroes are taking over the action figure aisles and whether you buy them for investment purposes or collect them for the sheer enjoyment of it, one thing is for certain, the nineties are definitely a great time for doing it. If you ask me, I think it's SUPER!



BACK IN BLACK

By Carey Hall

No, This isn't an article about AC/DC. It is an article about one of the hottest new/old heroes that has helped bring a spark to the fire of DC. Black Lightning, a former member of the Outsiders has returned in his own solo series.

The Outsiders, at one time led by Batman, was not the only appearance of Black Lightning. This character has also had another solo series consisting of 11 issues, during the 70's. The series was canceled, so Black Lighting found a home in World's Finest and Detective Comics. Along came the Outsiders and Tony Isabella's creation enjoyed his longest run in print.

This particular edition of the Outsiders was a minimal success at best and Black Lightning's potential was never dwelt upon. The groups membership included Geo-Force, Black Lightning, Katana, Halo, Looker, Metamorpho and on one occasion Batman.

That is all in the past now as Tony Isabella, Eddy Newell, and Ron McCain are taking Black lightning to new heights. Gone is the afro, mask and 70's style costume, replaced with an all new formidable looking design created by Newell. He no longer needs the mask to protect his identity because he has trained himself to emit electricity through his eyes to intimidate people into forgetting what he looks like. Jeff Pierce (the alter ego) is a teacher at a local school and has brought a decency back to being a hero.

The setting for this new saga is a city similar to the most larger cities in our country. The wealthy are in charge of the city government, but the gangs rule the streets. With the mayor against him and the gangs against him its obvious that he has his work cut out for him.

The new series give Isabella the chance to explore Jeff Pierce and Black Lightning to a great extent. His personal life and thoughts will be more clearer than ever. Isabella promises to explore new ways to use Black Lightning's power and purpose.

Preliminary reports indicate that this book is selling like hot cakes. Well, I too am excited about this series and recommend it to all of you who are looking for the heroes of old. Lightning, in this case, really does strike twice.

Note: At press time I was notified that Tony Isabella was dismissed from Black Lightning after issue #1

Overview: The speculators are completely gone. The hangers on are grasping at straws like Lady Death and Shi that are guaranteed long term losers. Unfortunately, those self-same speculators have overextended the industry , and there needs to be some severe downsizing before things get back to normal and improve again.

DC: Superman & Batman remain high and constant, although Superman related titles without a triangle suffer, pretty much all Batman related books do well. As good as Zero Hour did, I don't think anybody read it, as only Flash, Aquaman, Wonder Woman, and Starman have benefited from the series. The above mentioned are all good books and might have done well without a push. Vertigo and Milestone are dead, with everything else at a standstill.

MARVEL: The house of idea (no plural) has shot it's comics division in the foot while deluding themselves that they are Disney. The raise in cover price to $1.95 for the 'Deluxe' titles and $2.95 for 'Marvel Select' is outrageous, and we hear not over yet. X-Men sales are way down as a youngster can afford 5 bucks for two books. The Spider-Man and FF storylines are way to long and people have given up on them. Everything else at Marvel that Peter David doesn't write is poo.

ALTERNATIVES: We're not seeing great strides in the creator owned material that many are, but intend to direct more attention to that area. Spawn and Wildcats still sell at Image, and that's it We're considering an Extreme Studios 2 for a nickel sale. Valiant and Ultraverse have maintained a reader base, but have slipped slightly. Star Wars, Miller and Bryne are the tickets at Dark Horse.

DC: Still going strong after its Zero Hour crossover. All Batman titles sell well. It seems every new Vertigo title becomes popular, while the older ones sell slowly (except of course Sandman). As far back issues are concerned , the only big movement comes from Sandman especially #22, which is the first appearance of Daniel, the guy who's rumored to be the next Sandman. Slight interest in recent Flash and Wonder Woman, however. Almost no sales from the Milestone arena. One title of note is Spectre. Increasing sales both in back issues and new releases- Could this be the next Sandman?

MARVEL: Other than X-titles which, of course, all sell grrrreeaat! The Spider-Man titles are going wild with the clone storyline. A big thumbs down to Marvel for putting the Spider-Man novel excerpts on the flip-side of the books to up the cover price. Nobody's reading those excerpts. Beavis & Butt-Head still sells great, but Ren & Stimpy appeal has died off. All 2099 books sell great. Marvel's older established characters (Hulk, Thor, Silver Surfer, Fantastic Four) sell well, but most other Marvel titles sales are mediocre, at best. Back issue interest is high with recent X-titles, especially mini-series, and the new storyline is selling out all over the place. Punisher may not be dead, yet, but his sales are.

OTHER PUBLISHERS: Image is the publisher. They seemingly can do no wrong. Sales have been up for all the Image "X-month" titles. Spawn still the very best seller even with the mix-up in the numbering! The Wildstorm mini series are also big movers both as new and back issues. In fact, back issue prices continue to soar on Gen13, Wetworks, and even now Team 7 and Backlash! The various "bad girl" books, Vampirella , Penthouse Comix, Drama, and even Evil Ernie (with Lady Death). are great sellers. Back Issue prices continue to rise as well. Is Valiant still publishing? If they stopped, I don't think anyone would notice, what with the poor, poor sales there. Anticipation runs rampant with the new artists coming on board, however, and the reduction in titles is a Godsend. We still have quite a few people upset that Defiant went on hiatus, and now with Jim Shooter's new company, they're wondering if they should continue with Jim. Defiant may not have had the greatest artwork, but the stories were to die for! And Malibu! Fantastic sales for Ultraverse books continue, and everyone is waiting to see Thor in Godwheel.

COMMENTS: The comics market has definitely recovered from its slump from last year. Sales are great and slowly increasing as the level of readership levels slowly increase (as opposed to the large boom and bust when the speculator market came and went). There's still a glut of product, and the fans are finicky about picking out only the best of the titles, but overall it's a very healthy industry right now.

MARVEL: Anyone not reading the Spiderman titles is missing the best storyline Spidey has had in over ten years. The unanswered questions regarding Kaine, the Clone, and the Jackal have had lots of customers buzzing and buying. There has been a huge amount of reserve orders for the "After Xavier" storyline, although some loyal X-Men fans have been expressing displeasure over "losing" the regular X-titles. Some of the classic Marvel titles such as Iron Man, Hulk, and Fantastic Four have fared much better lately. Marvel limited has produced some pretty nice stuff, but also has charged too much for it. (c'mon guys give us a break). Marvel could literally cancel twenty or so titles without anyone noticing.

DC: Superman titles, Batman titles, Flash and Green Lantern have all become monthly sell-throughs. I found it necessary to place multiple reorders for the "Bloodstorm" hardcover (not bad for a book with a $24.95 cover price). DC has been on the upswing for a while now, but, like Marvel would do well to cut out some unwanted titles.

OTHER PUBLISHERS: Despite Spawn, Gen13, Prophet and Team 7, Image is not the force in the marketplace it once was. People are waking up to the fact that flashy artwork can't overcome lack of good reading forever. Valiant and Ultraverse have nose-dived. "Hate" By Peter Bagge has got to be one of the most entertaining comics out there, along with "Faust" (not for kids). "Nightcry", "Shi" and "Naughty Bits" (also not for kids). "Vamperotica" has been a hit among adult readers, and seemingly everyone is buying "Vengeance of Vampirella ". Horror fans should be checking out "Dark Muse". Glenn Danzig writing comics???? This should be interesting.

OTHER COMMENTS: 1994 marked our first full year in business, and we far exceeded even our own expectations. Thank you to everyone who helped make it happen! Special thanks to: John Romita Jr., Joe Monks, Tim Vigil, Debbie, Jason, Alan Weiss and most of all- our customers!

Lastly- kids, the current crop of "hot" artist are cool, but visit the back issue boxes and get to know names like Steranko, Romita, Kane, Kirby, Byrne, Adams and Ditko. You won't be sorry.

Introducing...

Life-X-Tenders™

From Bill Cole Enterprises, Inc.

By absorbing the harmful gases and other contaminants in comic book paper as it ages, Life-X-Tender™ backing boards are the "single most important innovation in archival comic storage since the introduction of Mylar® sleeves."

This unique design has a layer of activated charcoal sandwiched between two sheets of true archival quality acid free board, which absorbs and neutralizes harmful gases and contaminants given off by the paper and inks of your comic books.

A new defense in the fight against the aging process

COLLECTORS, CHOOSE YOUR WEAPON

Non Archival Boards

Ordinary cardboard only adds rigidity to your comic book during storage. However, any non-archival backing boards will break down over time and release acid and other contaminants that will migrate into the paper your comic book is printed on, damaging the book you are trying to protect.

Archival Quality Boards

Acid free, archival quality backing boards (like those sold by BCE) will also add rigidity to your comic books during storage. However, archival quality backing boards will not break down over time nor will they accelerate the aging process. These boards are perfectly safe to use for storing your comic books.

Unless you deacidify your comics before storage, the paper they are printed on will become acidic over time and the paper will yellow. Proper use of new Life-X-Tender™ backing boards gradually slows the aging process.

NEW Life-X-Tenders™

Only Life-X-Tender™ backing boards can protect your comic books from virtually everything, including the harmful gases in the paper they are printed on.

As the paper in your comic book ages, it releases acids and other contaminants. New Life-X-Tender™ backing boards continually absorb and neutralize these contaminants, retarding the aging process and preserving the value of your comics.

For added protection, serious collectors will want to use Life-X-Tenders™ in place of regular archival backing boards.
